

Environmental policy

The environmental policy is a component of the company policy of Ideal BIG Floorcoverings.

With attention for the legal requirements, we undertake to minimise potential negative effects on the environment caused by our activities, products and services, while taking standard product and economic requirements into account. In order to be able to implement this environmental policy, we have developed an environmental protection system in accordance with the internationally-recognised ISO 14001 standard.

For an effective environmental policy, we need a well-functioning environmental protection system that satisfies the following requirements:

- Respect of the environmental legislation
- Attempt to limit as much as possible or even prevent entirely all forms of environmental pollution caused by our activities.
- Dealing economically with equipment, energy, raw materials and space.
- Working more to prevent problems rather than correcting them.
- Continuous striving for improvement of the environmental protection system.
- Regular monitoring of the effectiveness of the care system e.g. through periodic audits.

Supported by the management team and the environmental coordinator, the board of directors is responsible for implementation of and compliance with this policy.

Each employee in his or her position has an equally important role and responsibility in this effort.

Only by working together can we implement an effective environmental policy and a well-functioning environmental protection system.
